

Baja SAE is a non-profit collegiate design series sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE). RIT Baja is just one of over a hundred regularly competing teams in North America alone. Our team is built on the ideals of fostering engineering development in any student interested in furthering their growth. We pride ourselves on the open environment we create to allow students to push their creativity and do so in a collaborative manner, spanning many disciplines.

Students of any major, year or background are encouraged to be a part of our team, giving us the benefit of diverse mindsets and a truly tight-knit group. We succeed by exposing all members to the engineering design process and helping them to think in a way that promotes an organized and creative approach to multi-faceted problems.
